INDIVIDUAL ACTIONS MATTER: As government-imposed restrictions are eased and responsibility shifts to individuals, there has been an increase in cases statewide. We now have positive tests in Unalaska. It is vitally important that each and every one of us continue to protect ourselves from illness, and thereby protect our family, our friends, and our community. The best defense is to not be exposed to COVID-19!

Our individual sacrifices make a collective difference!

We CAN flatten the curve again.

- Practice good hygiene – wash your hands frequently and thoroughly
- Clean and disinfect surfaces frequently and thoroughly
- Maintain your distance from others – stay six feet away from non-household members
- Wear a face covering in public
- Keep your social circle small
- Know the symptoms; stay home if you are sick; and get tested
